MICAELA'S COFFEE THOUGHT: MICAELA BOLSER: Welcome to Micaela's coffee thought! A section of the newsletter where I share my thoughts I get while drinking my morning coffee. Feel free to grab a cup of your favorite drink and enjoy! Eh coffee is still hit and miss this pregnancy. Some days I like it and other days I can't stand it. Today is one of the days I can't stand it LOL. So this is more of a sprite thought than a coffee thought. (sprite helps the nausea) I love Christian rock music. I know some absolutely can't stand it, but bands like Skillet were essential to me when I was a teenager in active rebellion and wanting nothing to do with God. I had no clue my brother had been secretly adding this genre to my playlists. One band in particular I really enjoyed was Disciple. Specifically their album HORSESHOES AND HAND GRENADES. See, with a name like that I would never have guessed that Scripture was being spoken over me! The song "Dear X, you don't own me" was my top favorite. As a teen I thought they were talking about an Ex partner and finally breaking free from them. As an adult I was able to hear what they were actually doing was replacing the X in different lines with things like anger, shame, hate and telling these things they had no power over him anymore. In the chorus of the song are two lines I want to dive into. "You can bend but you're never going to break me." Most things when you bend them long enough, break. That's a fact. Some things when you bend them over a period of time will lose their structure and not sit the correct way anymore. Keep bending people? You can begin to lose integrity. When the enemy decides he's going to get sneaky with his attacks and just slightly bend your arm back, at first it's uncomfortable. After time you can no longer ignore the fact your arm is not the way it's supposed to be. Because those things like anger, shame, and hate begin to come out from the pain you are in. What seemed like a tiny attack ended up being a long term strategy to bring you down. The next is “go ahead, put a target on my forehead, you can fire but you got no bullets.” Let's be real, the enemy has bullets. Yes it's true that compared to the armor God has covered us in, that makes them more like paintball pellets. But speaking from experience? Those still hurt. I got the opportunity to go paintballing once and was left with welts and bruising for weeks. At first you feel the sting and don't realize the damage that was done. But when you go to wash off the stains! The verse in Isaiah 54 is true; No weapon formed against you will prosper! Praise God! However the Bible does not say you won't still take the hits. The devil's attacks just get reduced to non-fatal force. We are in a real spiritual war here guys. Some of us are called to the front and take the force of the attacks; and some are in the back only getting minor hits that still hurt. Pain doesn't mean you don't have enough faith. Jesus took the brunt of the fatal hits. Each time that whip hit His flesh, each hard shove or slap from the ones screaming for His death, and each hammer of the nails into His Body. I guarantee you; He felt that pain. Every second of it. So why do we act like we have to take these attacks and pretend they aren't happening? FIGHT BACK! The devil can only hold your arm for a long period of time if you let him. Take it back from him. He has no authority over us! Will that stop his attacks? Absolutely not. Because he knows he's running out of time. But we will get stronger and smarter from each blow he brings at us. But don't try to fight him alone. God will go before you and fight not only for you, but with you. He wants to help you break free from the attacks. So the next time you feel a slight pull in the wrong direction, pull your arm back to your body and ask God to show you how and help you fight this. John 10:10.

SPECIAL UPDATE FROM MICAELA: Hi everyone! I wanted to go ahead and address a couple of things early on. I will have reminders closer to time as well. First, my pregnancy is healthy and progressing well! My due date was moved to the first of May. I still have a gut feeling baby boy may be here in April. So I have decided after Easter to officially start my maternity leave. I will be taking it until the end of June, and only coming back on for light work until August when I'll pick things back up as much as I can between homeschooling, 3 kids, and all my responsibilities at home. Most of what I do for The Warriors Sword is actually in person at different places. So to the ones who read; you'll just miss a few coffee thoughts. For the ones who see me at events, invite me to their churches, and my children and youth at my church will notice my absence a bit more. I will not be traveling to preach at all this year. Next year if God wills it and you would like me to come speak; I will. I'm taking this first year with my last baby to really soak it in. I will however have videos this year that will be posted. But almost all will be after my break. I appreciate all who have prayed for my and my baby's health. Please continue to pray for us as we start the countdown to meeting him. I hope you all have a blessed new year!

MIKE'S MANIFESTO: PART 3 THE THIRD LETTER IN HAFT, THE HANDLE OF THE SWORD, IS F. FAITHFUL: Faithful is not even a word that can be used when things go as you have planned. ALABASTER BREAK by Lizzie Morgan “you don't know the cost of the oil; you don't know the cost of my worship.” This is the reference to Mary who broke the oil over Jesus and wiped His feet with her hair. It was expensive, but her worship was much more expensive than the cost of mere oil. Paul wrote: II Corinthians 4:8-10 “We are troubled on every side, yet not distressed; we are perplexed, but not in despair; Persecuted, but not forsaken; cast down, but not destroyed; Always bearing about in the body the dying of the Lord Jesus, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our body.” A quote that is accredited to numerous people: “Ministry- others being blessed by the oil that came from what crushed you.” It is not a pleasant fact, and not one that modern day theology likes to look at. We don’t like to do messages on Paul saying they were troubled from every side. For it is taught we can have victory without struggle and glory without the cross. But to truly be faithful in ministry, it is often the oil that came from your crushing that brings the benefit. You cannot make wine without first crushing the grapes. In fact, the grapes are “stomped” into liquid. If you want to be faithful, it is not how you act on the mountain top, but rather it is when you are being crushed into the oil that brings the worship to the God you claim to praise. A few years back, a group of five missionaries trying to bring clean water to Mosul, Iraq was massacred in an attack against them. A few days from that, in the same type of attack, vehicles riddled with bullets, yet a military patrol walked away with only minor injuries. Why do some die while others are supernaturally protected? Why did James get beheaded, and God sent an angel to deliver Peter from the same prison?

Jim Elliott wrote “You are immortal until your work is finished.” His prayer “God I pray Thee, light these idle sticks of my life and may I burn up for Thee. Consume my life, my God, for it is Thine. I seek not a long life, but a full one, like You, Lord Jesus.” “He is no fool who gives what he cannot keep to gain what he cannot lose.” Elliott wisely realized it is not the length of our life that matters. It is the fullness of our life in bringing glory to Our God! Everyone will lose our lives in some fashion, whether to sickness, old age, or a sniper’s bullet. But if we want to be faithful, circumstances play no part. And God does not owe us an explanation. Be careful in asking for one. Or you might find yourself standing as Job hearing God say, “Put on your pants like a man and I will talk to you like a man. Who do you think you are?” Being faithful is not asking God to explain Himself. Being faithful is putting your nose in His back and following Him wherever He takes you. Whether that be to do a major crusade, or to witness to a homeless person where no one will ever know what you did. The fact is not in what you did at all! It is in your willingness to be obedient for obedience is better than sacrifice. I Samuel 15:22. We are told to Occupy until He comes back! Luke 19:13. There is nothing that gives a qualification to only do that when things are good. Those who have been faithful to being disciples of Christ will give up father, mother, children, spouse, land, and all. If you think being a disciple is an easy call on your life, you don’t understand discipleship at all. We are in a time when Jesus said Himself that men’s hearts would be failing for fear. Luke 21:26. In BULLET PROOF, Chuck Holton shares, “Courage stems from a decision not a feeling. It’s not something you are; it’s something you do.” It is time for the disciples and warriors that claim to follow Christ to quit trying to find a feeling that makes us feel more courageous. Luke 18:8 Jesus asked When the Son of Man comes, will He find any faith? Faithfulness has been buried in the false teachings of charlatans that teach it is about counting on God for material blessing. But being faithful will make you a true disciple of Jesus Christ. And whether celebrating in the mountains of success, or weeping in the valleys of persecution, the true handle of the sword will be faithful. Are you that HAFT?

UPCOMING VISION AND BANNERS: Just a few days before this newsletter came out, we had a very important all day director’s meeting in Illinois. While more things will be brought out from that meeting soon, a couple things we want to share with you now. Something not from the meeting that I want to let everyone know so you don’t send to us. We will not be continuing the USED STAMPS project. We will send our second and final set of used stamps the first of March.

And we will not be continuing this effort. The next newsletter we hope to send out the first week of March. We hope to keep putting out videos as often as we can. The Pharisees and Sadducees that rule the denominations whose agendas are more important to them than God's word have the ability to make a mess of life. And the godless Nazarenes have done that with me. Some 4 ½ years ago, I left a secure place; to live below poverty level to keep a place open that zero of their little godless Nazarenes would blink their eyes at. They would gladly let it close and steal the property. There are more denominations supporting LGBTQIALMNOP than there are supporting the Word of God. I have made people angry at me, but that is because of a misrepresentation of my words. The denominational church is dead. There is nothing that is going to revive it. It is run by non-kingdom minded fools that have no desire to reach the lost. Only to build their bank accounts. And Proverbs 26:4 is a warning to me that if I waste my time arguing with fools, I will be just like them. And I have fallen into that trap. The denominations have a plan and that plan is to close down churches and steal their property and money. THE REMNANT CHURCH IS VERY MUCH ALIVE AND WILL NOT BE DEFEATED! There is a difference between a vision and a plan. The daily vision is not going out and walking on water. The daily vision is learning to walk on the land and follow the Author and Finisher of our faith. You are going to see a lot more about this on all of our formats. We have determined one of the main banners we have to put forward is THE BANNER OF DISCIPLESHIP. Our goals as we use all the ministries, revise and make the website more intentional, and develop the AMMA, is to raise that banner of discipleship and bring people into ministry and help them to accomplish the ministry they are called to. It is not to run everyone's ministry. It is not to develop a bunch of clones and robots. But to equip and support every way we can the people who feel called to do some kind of work for the Lord. We are just beginning to fully develop the plan. And some of the status quo things we have done will be reshaped and refocused. We will reveal some of the plan in the newsletter and on website and even by video. If you want to keep aware of what is happening and what is coming, the only way you will be able to do it is read, watch, and follow.

A RESPONSE TO A YOU TUBE VIDEO FROM MICAELA BOLSER: (Especially to Mothers): Oh the joys of YouTube and all its drama. I don't want drama with this writing, just to set the record straight about something I just watched that set off a righteous anger in me. If you don't believe in righteous anger you never read about Jesus flipping tables in the temple, or Moses when he threw the first 10 commandment tablets to the ground when the Israelites were worshiping the golden calf. First, let me say I understand fully this lady had no idea what she was talking about. I don't condemn her for not understanding the topic. However, I am angry at her saying her stance was biblical. So let me give you the run down. I will not name names as I don't want to start drama; just bring awareness. This Youtuber whom I watch often makes homemaking videos and discusses topics she feels like needs to be talked about more. For the most part, I have no issues with her videos. With her being of a Catholic background and I am Protestant background, we butt heads on theology. I am in no way saying she needs to believe what I believe. However, if you're going to talk about the "bible" to a vulnerable group of people, you need your doctrine straight. Her video titled "Say goodbye to mom rage" made me curious as to what she would say. As someone who has struggled with mom rage and is healing from it, I like to hear others' ideas on how to deal with it. With anger, there is not a one way fix all. Sorry. What works for you may not work for the person next to you. And that is ok! We are all different. So I like to watch things about the topics I'm struggling or have struggled with. Right off the bat it was said "Anger is a capital sin" first things first, sin is sin. James 2:10 ESV - "For whoever keeps the whole law but fails in one point has become guilty of it all." The "capital sin" claim is false. There is one sin in the entire bible labeled worse than the rest and that is blasphemy of the Holy Spirit. Which in case you didn't know, isn't anger. Can it be done in anger? Absolutely. But that is why we must take what Paul said to heart when we struggle with anger. Ephesians 4:26-27 ESV - "Be angry and do not sin; do not let the sun go down on your anger, and give no opportunity to the devil." Let's look at that first part "be angry and do not sin" hmmm almost like the Bible itself is saying anger is NOT a sin but you can sin because of anger. So why tell impressionable mothers that they are sinning for being frustrated at an overly messy home, the lack of being able to eat properly, and care for themselves properly? Or maybe they feel rage from the lack of sleep? Maybe their financial situation is bad and they are struggling to make all the payments. So you call them a capital sinner for it? Who gave you the authority to judge? Because my God judges me. Not some lady on YouTube with a platform who thinks she knows everything because she read an article about it. Before I had to click off the video, she started talking about underlying reasons for anger. The first topic was one I am physically familiar with, hypoglycemia. My blood sugar is always low. I first hand understand the mental turmoil it can put you in when it's dangerously low and you need to eat. She then talked about the scenario of the busy mom who grabs a quick coffee and a donut at 9am then by 12pm crashes and is an emotional mess; I've been there. A few moments later stated, "and this can be seen as gluttony, eating something for pleasure instead of nourishment." Let's look at the definition of gluttony shall we? Gluttony "habitable greed or excess in eating" Gluttony is an OVERINDULGENCE! To the busy mom who had to run out the door, knew you needed to eat, and just simply grabbed a donut so you wouldn't feel sick; you are not gluttonous. That is in NO way gluttony. I couldn't watch any more after that. My heart was raging and my stomach felt sick. There are women right now that beat themselves up daily because they can't always keep a level head. Ones who cry themselves to sleep because they are so exhausted with the weight of motherhood and snap. I see you. You are not some capital sinner who needs to be on their knees for the next 20 days in repentance. Motherhood is hard and it can be overwhelming. Videos like this can cause unnecessary judgment on yourself and can even warp other mom's views on friends that are dealing with this. Mom rage is real, and God wants to help you with it. Eating a donut on the way to school drop off doesn't cause it. Real overbearing weight that rests on your shoulders does. Jesus can't come clean your house for you, but He wants you to lay that overbearing burden at His feet. He will change your perspective from "my kids destroy the house" to "what a blessing to have my children's memories made in this pile of toys." He wants you to cry to Him when all you wanted was to sit and drink a hot cup of coffee that is now cold because your toddler threw up. There are women out there who understand and want to be there for you. Don't fall for the trap so many are going to fall into from people like this who don't know what they are talking about. Not all moms can wake at 4 am every single day to kickstart it all. Not all moms and wives are called to be the Proverbs 31 woman. Some are called to be doctors who help others. Some are called to the battle fields in the military. Some like me are called to ministry beyond the home and in the home. Don't let these people define you. God defines you. He doesn't see you as the angry out of control mom. He sees you as His daughter, crying on the floor sitting in the pile of unfolded laundry. And He wants to sit on the floor and help you through it. So don't listen to these know it alls on YouTube who don't have a clue biblically or literally what you are going through. It's not truth because someone else says it. But the Bible is undoubtedly the TRUTH! Follow it and what God says.

A DECISION OF A FEW SECONDS: I Samuel 13:10 "And it came to pass, that as soon as he had made an end of offering the burnt offering, behold, Samuel came:..." Sometimes, we don't even realize the decision we make in the heat of the moment can change everything! Not only in the present, but for our future. Can you imagine coming to realize the decisions we make in crisis, if we had just waited a little bit longer, would have led to a completely different future? If you have been around me for very long, you know I despise the phrase "WHAT IF". I think it is one the saddest questions we can ask. What if I would have just done this or done that? Israel had just won a tremendous victory at the hands of Prince Jonathan. But things were not happening the way King Saul thought. Samuel, the Judge/Prophet had warned him to wait so the sacrifice could be offered to God properly. But Saul didn't want to wait. He wanted it to work according to his plan. And it wasn't the first time he had made those type of decisions. If Saul had done what he was told, it might have been his seed that led to the Messiah and the Everlasting Ruler of Israel. Instead, he disappeared into the annals of bad history. If he had just waited those moments. Samuel was almost to the camp. It would have been easy. As we face forward to 2026, let's be careful not to make those decisions when circumstances seem to be working against us. God is never late. EVER. So do what He says, no matter how uncomfortable.

IT DOES NOT MATTER (or does it)?: It amazes me how people still feel if they elect enough of one party, the nation will be fixed. Mitch McConnell, a Republican, became a millionaire being a politician just as corrupt as Chuck Schumer a Democrat. It is not party lines but what the individual stands for. The Republicans as a party are corrupt as the Democrats as a party are. I am not saying they are equal in their corruption, but neither of them are looking out for your best interest. The Republicans knew all the money to promote transgenderism and to support baby murder and all the other things were going on. They can try to act surprised. But they were voting yes for all this money to be sent the same as the Democrats. They knew what Minnesota was doing getting billions of dollars and misusing it. Philosophically, there is a huge difference. I am sorry for any of my friends that disagree, but if you do disagree, take a look at New York City mayor, who is a communist Jew hating Muslim. Take a look at a party that just shut down the nation for a month to maintain their control. Take a look at the party that is likely to nominate Gavin Newsom or AOC for president. But the corruption is the same. What changed was a president, like him or not, who took it from the hidden rooms of congress where Republican and Democrat alike sell the air you breath and the water you drink to make themselves wealthy. And when the truth comes out, they will deflect the truth and use the media to try to divert your attention. Jeffrey Epstein died 8/10/2019. Why at the end of 2025 did it become the leading need to know item to the democrats and the media? Because they do not want you focusing on what they are doing. They want you focusing on what distracts you. Politicians from either party are not going to correct the issue. And Libertarians like Rand Paul are traitors and they won't fix it either. I will continue to shout it from the rooftops, only turning to Jesus Christ will give this nation hope. And yesterday, I paid $1.89 for a gallon of gas.
